Junior Fun Day Sports Carnival

Well done to everyone who participated at the Junior Sports Day yesterday – What a fantastic day it was!

THE RESILIENCE PROJECT™

Over the past few weeks, we have been looking at gratitude and empathy within our lives at home and at school. I have some students this week to share their thoughts on what they are grateful for, in their lives.

Brody - "I am grateful that I get to come to school hanging out with all my mates, whether it be playing basketball, hanging out or learning things. My favourite thing about life right now is that I have a roof over my head and I get to sleep in my bed".

Jack - "I am grateful that school is free and that we have free public health care and that I have a family that loves me. My favourite thing about life right now is school because I hang out with my friends, excursions and every single day we learn something new".

Charlie - "I am grateful that I finally got the Batman Arkham Asylum game and that my dad let me stay up a bit later to play it. My favourite thing in life right now are Batman Arkham Asylum and coming to his safe classroom everyday".

I invite you this week to have a think about the importance of family and can you slow down a bit in your own lives and find some things that you are grateful for. Mr M (5D)

Last week we had our first session of Circus Club. With spinning plates, sock pois, juggling rings, catch cups and flower sticks, we are excited to learn a whole bunch of new circus tricks! The spinning plates have been the most popular so far, with the children working on spinning the plates, catching and throwing them, and balancing the plate on their hands while it spins. It has been great to see the show of perseverance where children have been trying again and again to work on their skills. We have more circus toys to have a play with this week and we can't wait to see the tricks that the children will be working on.
